SAYS GOMEZ CAUSED CUBA'S RACE CLASH

Editor Garrido Asserts That the President Played Politics Too Deeply.

SITUATION OUTGREW HIM

Even If the Revolt Is Put Down, the Race Hatred Problem Will Remain, He Says.

Dr. Charles E. Garrido, editor and proprietor of La Prensa, an afternoon towspaper of Hayana, which is independent and whose active opposition o President Gomez has cost its editor menths in jall, is at the Holland House with his family. Dr. Garrido ays that personally he is a friend of resident Gomez, even if it did take a pecial act of the Cuban Congress to et his liberty back, and that he is up here on a pleasure trip which will last about three months.

As for the situation in Cuba, the outbreak among the negroes will soon be put down. Dr. Garrido thinks; if not the Cubans alone then with the help of the United States. That is not the serious part of the trouble, which, according to the visiting editor, is that omez, or as he put it the Government, tried to play a little politics and the playthings got out of hand. The result is the stirring up of racial batred will never be allayed, he thinks, being offered in the shops along that thoroughlas got to be established.

"At the start of the present difficulty the Cuban press backed President Gemez in the cable he sent to the United States Government, protesting against intervention, on the ground that the outbreak was only that of a band of negro outlaws without any affiliations with any political party. Since then depredations have been committed by these negroes, property has been burned and white women assaulted, so that the same Cuban press thought it was wise that the United States be allowed to land marines to protect property. That act instead of meaning intervention, was but a safeguard for Cuban independence.

"In my judgment, and in that of all thinking Cubans, Gen. Gomez is directly responsible for the outbreak and I can give reasons why such an opinion is held. I might mention that even the opposition newspapers in Cuba have refrained from commenting on this matter, because it was feared that by so doing, it might weaken the contidence of the whites and encourage the biarks. Now as to my reasons:

"I should like to say a word about Mr. Beaupre, the American Minister. I do not think he is a good friend to Cuba, and he takes no pains to avoid exaggerating news in the island and creating a bad impression at home about Cuban affairs. One day last February I wrote a very strong article about him because when he had received a diplomatic note from Washington to convey to the Cuban Government, he gave the contents to all the newspapers before he delivered to the Government, for which it was intended.
